Indianapolis is a Global City.

Greetings,

In today's world economy, it is more critical than ever for Indianapolis to be a city that is globally recognized as a great place to live, work, and raise a family. Moreover, we must be a city that is welcoming and inclusive to all who make Indianapolis their home.

I'm proud to report that Indianapolis is very connected to the world. Today, we have numerous global connections through our international businesses, foreign students that study in our universities, and our thriving sports and arts communities that bring many visitors from around the globe to our city.

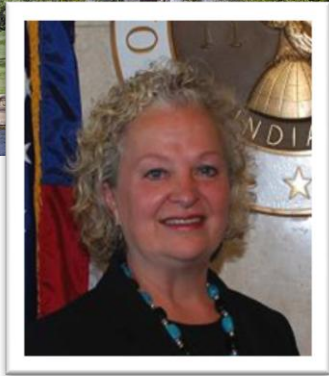

Since I became Mayor, we have doubled the number of Sister Cities. I believe our Sister City partnerships represent one key initiative in our international growth strategy, as they provide natural international connections via cultural, educational and economic ties.

We will continue to strengthen our ties throughout the world so that everyone recognizes Indianapolis as a wonderful, creative, and global city.

Sincerely,

Gregory A. Ballard
Mayor, City of Indianapolis

A Note From the Director

Greetings,

2011 was a foundation year in the expansion of the Indianapolis Sister Cities International program. With the addition of four new Sister Cities, our goal for 2011 was to establish volunteer committees for each relationship. We are very pleased with the interest from the community to get involved with this initiative. It quickly became clear that we would be able to accomplish our goal mid-year. This enabled us to plan additional initiatives for 2011, including a Celebration event for our stakeholders and volunteers. We participated in Indy's International Festival and held a retreat in Q4 to set the stage to create more awareness of the program in our community, as well as explore how we can expand the program in the future.

Sister Cities International (SCI), headquartered in Washington, D.C., is a nonprofit city-to-city network inspired by President Eisenhower's suggestion in 1956 that citizen diplomacy might reduce the chance of future world conflict. Today, SCI creates and strengthens partnerships between the U.S. and international communities representing more than 2,500 communities in 135 countries around the world.

We invite you to get involved in this exciting initiative!

Delegation visits Monza

July 20

A delegation from Indianapolis represented by Paola Marri Santini, President and Irma Galli Johnson, native of Monza, visited Mayor Marco Mariani. During the meeting, many opportunities for cooperation and connection between the two cities were discussed.

The Monza relationship was established in 1994 by then-Mayors Stephen Goldsmith of Indianapolis and Silvio Moltifiori of Monza. There were at the time, and still exist today, compelling synergies between the two cities. Indianapolis is the home of the world famous Speedway race track and the Indianapolis 500 and Monza holds the Monza Autodromo Grand Prix, the longest-running auto race in Europe. Monza, like Indianapolis, is located in Italy's agricultural and industrial heartland. In addition, Monza's hospital has an impressive record for treating juvenile leukemia, while our Riley Children's Hospital, which has had similar success in treating children's diseases.

About our Sister City

The Indianapolis-Northamptonshire County committee, founded in the summer of 2011, is the newest Sister City committee. Northamptonshire County is an exciting, vibrant place, home of the Silverstone F-1 racing facility. Northamptonshire County is also known as the Motorsports Valley, and is the home to the center of the European racing community. Numerous racing teams, engineering facilities, testing facilities and race-related vendors are located in the geographical area.

There are great synergies between the Indianapolis and the Northamptonshire County business and cultural communities. We are looking forward to establishing cultural and business initiatives for the mutual benefit and understanding of both communities. We welcome ideas and participation.
